INTRODUCTION

La Cima, Italian for peak or hilltop, lies on the brow of a hill in glorious Umbrian countryside, just a 15-minute walk from the small town of Pozzuolo, with views towards Lake Trasimeno and Montepulciano.

This once-handsome redbrick building is now derelict and therefore offers various restoration or building possibilities, including an entirely new single-storey modern villa or a more traditional farmhouse.

Furthermore, it is possible to recover the current building, the annexes that are there, plus you can make an extension of another 28 sqm (totalling the main building to max. 450 sqm), plus a non-residential annex (storage) of 30 sqm, a porch (measuring max. 10% of the property's ground floor surface), and even a winter garden (serre) attached to the house (equal to max. 20% of the main house ground floor surface). The measure indications are maximum measures; it is also allowed to demolish and reconstruct a smaller house.

All changes and new constructions are subject to approval of a project plan at the Municipality.

The sale includes almost two hectares of private land and the house is surrounded by vineyards and fields in a delightful rural setting. There's an obvious site for an infinity pool (7m*14m would be allowed) with far-reaching views across this pretty and gentle landscape.

The house is approached by a well-maintained gravel lane and is just two minutes by car from the nearest amenities.

The mentioned "starting from EUR 1,990 mio" price comprises an estimate of the total cost to incur in a project to come to a turn-key delivery of the property: construction (renovation, new build or restoration pending the situation) included the building's structure where necessary as well as all finishings including systems and swimming pool, landscaping and planting of garden, technical fees (e.g. architect, engineer, surveyor), project & design management by SpecialUmbria, all interior and exterior furniture and decorations.
