INTRODUCTION

Set in Le Marche, one of Italy's least spoiled regions, this long, two-storey villa is a spacious family property full of history and character, considering that the private Chapel dates back on the Medieval Ages, around the year 1.000.

The house is dated back on 1600, has many traditional architectural features including huge stone fireplaces, arched stone doorways with big double wooden doors, barrel- and fan-vaulted ceilings, wooden ceiling beams and beautiful cotto floors. The 772sqm of space includes elegant drawing and sitting rooms, eight bedrooms and three kitchens – one on the ground floor and two on the first floor.

The entire property was first renovated in 1970's, with many improvements in the following years, the last renovation of the main building and Chapel dates back in the 2000s.

Lanoro sits in a well-maintained garden with lawn and beds, mature trees, a terrace, a pool and a pretty, stand-alone private chapel with a shell-pink arched ceiling and dark wooden pews.

There are some outbuildings that are currently used as garden and agricultural storage where extra building allowance will be granted following restoration. They may be turned into habitable residencies if the owner is a direct farmer.

The property has far-reaching views across the beautiful rolling Le Marche hills. Medieval towns such as Urbino, Gubbio and Fabriano are close by while the fabulous beaches on the Adriatic coast are 40 or 50 minutes away.

LAYOUT

BEDROOMS

There are eight spacious double bedrooms spread over both the ground and first floors. The ones on the first floor are characterised by their beautiful ceilings, some of which are vaulted while others have original exposed wooden beams.

BATHROOMS

There are five bathrooms.

KITCHEN

There are three kitchens – one on the ground floor and two on the first floor. While full of old-world charm, they are also in need of updating.

LIVINGROOM

There are large living rooms on both floors with big stone fireplaces, high ceilings with the original beams, cotto floors and windows with views onto the garden and the hills beyond.

OTHER ROOMS

The ground floor has a laundry area. There is a pizza oven with direct access to the terrace where there is also an old well. There are some storage sheds near the house that, with modernisation, would be ideal for a garage and tool or wood shed.

FACILITIES

OUTSIDE

The property is approached along a private drive with an avenue of trees, including cypresses. Set in a large garden with wonderful views across the valley, there is an extensive lawn and some beautiful mature trees. The pool is perfectly positioned to make the most of the location and a private chapel in the grounds has a small and pretty, light-filled interior.

TECHNICAL

The property is connected to mains electricity and water.

Well water for the gardens: is coming from a very good functioning well on a neighbouring piece of land that is owned by the same owner; the right of tapping the water from that well is included in the sale.

Gas is in a tank. Radiators provide central heating while there is air conditioning in the bedrooms.
